Something Regarding Fire Protection

An article has been handed us with request that it be printed. The writer does not wish his name to appear and as he raises the question as to who has the care of the hydrants and voices a growing sentiment of distrust as to the duties of either the Norway Water Co. or the Fire Department we allow it to appear:

"Is it not true that we have to dig the ditches, buy the pipe and lay the pipes, and then when the water is turned on the pipes, hydrants etc., become the property of the Norway Water Co. and then it is not true that we then and there begin to pay for water?"

At the Norway Turning's fire Friday morning the writer knows that the hose company had a line of hose stretched so that it could have had a stream on the fire almost at the start, and no water came because the hydrant was frozen.

"If you remember the big Norway fire when the water was turned on, we did not have a force of water strong enough to throw a stream forty feet and it took hours before the pumps could get enough water to do any good at all, and in that time the town was gone up in smoke."

"Now if we buy a water company and give it to them so we can pay water rent are we not entitled to some protection from them, for it seems at least as though we ought to have what we pay for, and again I want to know; how much of a sucker is this town anyway? and they say they are going to raise the rent."

Fire Department Appreciated

Giles Frost, Chief of the Norway Fire Department, his assistants and other members of the department sincerely appreciate the words of commendation and $250.00 sent by Wallace A. Price, District Superintendent of the Central Maine Power Company.

The boys feel they only did their duty so far as the physical equipment would permit, yet the fact Mr. Frost is so appreciative of their work and energy in handling a fierce blaze like the Norway Turning Co. fire, strikes a responsive chord in every member of the department.

Contents of the letter as follows:

All tell us in the year's end,
The story of His love.

In addition to these there were nine shut-ins remembered by boxes of fruit and confections. Miss Etta Noyes and Mrs. Esther Anderson had charge of filling the boxes. ## Annoying Kidney Ills

Make Life Miserable for Many Norway People

There's nothing more annoying than kidney weakness or inability to properly control the kidney secretions. Night and day alike, the sufferer is tormented and what with the burning and scalding, the attendant backache, headache and dizziness, life is indeed a burden. Doan's Kidney Pills have given peace and comfort to many Norway people. —Profit by this Norway resident's experience.

John F. Sampson, prop. painting establishment, 174 Main St., says: "I was feeling run down and miserable. I was tired and nervous and my kidneys didn't act regularly. At times the secretions passed to frequently, then again they were scanty. My head ached night and day. A friend advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills so I sent to Stone's Drug Store for them. When I had finished taking Doan's, the trouble left and I have not been bothered since. I can certainly recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to anyone afflicted likewise."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Sampson had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

Bad Chimney Fire
One of the chimneys burned out in the house owned by L. W. and P. A. Walker, Wednesday, about eight o'clock a. m. It seemed to be all right until later in the day when it got so hot that it set the woodwork afire in a number of places.

The alarm was given, but to get at the fire they had to chop holes in the floors and in the walls. It burned through into one closet and set a lot of clothing afire. At one time it looked as if the fine set of buildings would be destroyed, but good work saved them. The damage in a number of rooms by fire, smoke and water was quite heavy.

NORTH LOVELL
The school teacher, Miss Wentworth and the pupils had a very nice Christmas tree and entertainment. The schoolroom was beautifully decorated with wreaths, red paper and berries for the windows and evergreen in every available place to beautify the room. The program consisted of readings, recitations, music both vocal and instrumental, and a call from Mrs. Santa Claus who helped distribute the presents. Quite a number of the parents were present and all enjoyed the afternoon very much. All had a nice treat of pop corn and candy.

There were many family Christmas trees and the little folks had a famous Christmas.

Miss Wentworth spent the Christmas recess at her home in Denmark.

Our jolly stage driver Amos McKen says he had heavy loads of Parcel Post packages all through Christmas week; nearly everyone must be remembered with gifts.

Vera Butters was at home from Norway for Christmas.

Little Lewis Davis had an accident that has made him quite lame.

Prudent Bedard spent Christmas with his family.

PORTRAITS

After having the Summer and Fall of 1922 painting I find it will be better judgment to make photographs for a while—in other words—

I made a mistake in my plans.

Perhaps you have miscalculated in times past, if you haven't you have done well.

So here goes for 1923—portraits and photographs—I will soon have some most interesting work to show you.

Christmas trees abound: First, the school had one with a program by the school and a sale of articles for benefit of the school, next on Dec. 21, Mrs. Wm. Twitchell entertained the ladies of Fore St. Circle. Her rooms were decorated with bells and Christmas greens and reds, in one corner was a large tree tastefully decorated and containing presents for all, as each member of the Circle gave some one of the Circle a gift at this time, besides this there was a program with music on the victrola, speaking by the children, and singing by the young ladies. Perhaps the most amusing part of the program was the reading of the original poems attached to the gifts on the tree. Daily refreshments were served by the hostess and daughter, Marjorie Twitchell. Thirty ladies and children there, making it, in a way, a community Xmas tree.

Friday evening, Dec. 22, the Adventist Sunday School of Oxford met at their superintendent's, Al O. Twitchell's, where, another Xmas tree with appropriate exercises were held. Wm. Boyd's truck brought a large number of the village part of the Sunday school. This too was a good sized gathering, all along the street one sees, besides the decorations in windows, branches of the individual family Christmas trees. Indeed a merry Xmas street was Oxford Fore Street this season.

Flora Cummings was visited the week end by her son, Alanson Cummings, and wife of West Paris, also Sunday by her son, Judkins Cummings of South Woodstock.

Melissa Twitchell, who is home from Showhegan for Xmas week, is entertaining her niece, Marion Twitchell.

E. E. Twitchell sold one of his horses to Lincoln Holmes, Bolster's Mills. Leon Twitchell and wife entertained his father and mother, two sisters, also aunt Flora Cummings, to dinner, Sunday, Dec. 24. Dec. 25th, they entertained her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Josiah Treblecock of Oxford village.

Rain is needed here more than the low drop in temperature. Water in wells is getting low and some "all out." Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Lovejoy spent Sunday before Xmas at Charles Hearst's, Pigeon Hill, where a family party was held.

Mary Swan, who has been stopping at Alvin Lovejoy's a few weeks past, has returned to her home in South Paris.

A TRIP TO FLORIDA

By Lydia Lord Shedd

There are very heavy dews in Florida. The continual dropping from the eaves seems like a light shower all night. It is of great benefit to the vegetation during the dry seasons. There had been the heaviest rainfall during the rainy season there had been for more than 20 years, previous to our coming South. A large amount of damage was done to the fruit and many fields of crops of all kinds were ruined. The fields were under water for a long time.

The crops recently planted are doing fine now. There are large fields of onions, bell peppers, tomatoes, and strawberries looking fine on the Indian River farms. One neighbor has a half acre of strawberries that were ready for market at Xmas time. They bring 75c a box. We have had strawberries of the early kind furnished us for three weeks from a nearby garden. Since coming here, Mr. Marri has planted a vegetable garden and set out many varieties of plants and shrubs. They are all doing well and the ground is ready for the fruit trees. He is to set out oranges, tangerines, grape fruit, tangerine, cupola, tangelo. The tangelo is from the tangerine and grapefruit, or pumelo, a hybrid. This fruit is the nearest and brings the highest price, of any citrus fruits. There is not enough raised to supply the demand. It brings ten dollars per box. Many trees are being set out this season. This season of the year is considered the best for setting out all trees and shrubs.

There are many varieties of palm trees, which is the most attractive and one of the most distinctive features of the tropical climate. Florida and California both have the climate for planting a great variety, but Florida has a greater variety than any other place. The coconut palm is grown here. Dates, Washingtonian cabbage, oil, and many other kinds too numerous to mention flourish here. The Australian silk oak is a lovely tree seen here. The cupola fruit resembles the apple in looks and flavor. Lime trees, the Papaya or papia fruit a branchless tree with beautiful foliage. The fruit resembles the melon in size and taste. There are two trees, the male and female, planted together to obtain the fruit.

The Oleander grows very large here, of many colors. There are many hedges of Australian pine that are beautiful, also California Privet. There are many beautiful Alamanda, Calico, Century, Moonflower, Nibiscus, Bigonia, Bougainvillea, a wonderful climbing vine. Columbine, flame vine, magnolia, jasmine and a thousand other wonderful shrubs. There was a meeting appointed by Mayor King to be held at his residence Dec. 24 to call the property holders at Osceola Park together for the purpose of improving and beautifying this part of the city.

NORWAY LAKE

Community Tree

The Christmas tree and entertainment under the auspices of the Mother's Club was held at the hall, Monday night. The hall was prettily decorated. Two trees were loaded with the gifts and overflowed on to tables and floor. Readings by Mrs. Cora Flood and Clara Harwood, recitations by the little folks, a candle exercise by Marion Proctor, John Morrison, Daniel Dullea and Beatrice Bryant each one holding a lighted candle, piano solos by Lucy Witt and Marion Bennett, a chorus by the children and solos by Mrs. Grace Dunham and Robley Morrison made up a very pleasing program.

Santa Claus appeared at the beginning of the entertainment and made a little speech which evoked laughter and applause. At the close of the entertainment the trees were quickly dismantled and the gifts distributed to the smiling company and for an hour or so the little folks had a joyous time with their new tops.

The Mothers' Club will observe the seventh anniversary of the dedication of their hall Saturday night, Dec. 30. A baked bean supper will be served at 6:30 followed by a short entertainment and then a dance. Virginia Mixer of Norway Village is to read, Mrs. Grace Dunham will sing and other good things will be provided.

J. A. Smith is visiting his sister, Mrs. Webster Kilgore and family.

Ethel Lapham went to Boston Friday to spend Christmas.

Stella Harwood is home from her school in Otisfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Cloutier of Lewiston were Christmas guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Ariel.

Mrs. Lucetta Bean of Bethel is at E. E. Witt's.

Asa Frost went to Bridgton to spend Christmas with his daughter, Mrs. Will Wood and family.

Mrs. Mary Healy of Portland came Saturday to spend Christmas with her son Henry Healy and family.

C. W. Hutchins is boarding at Cyrus Mackay's.

Mrs. Nathaniel Bennett was recently called to West Bethel by illness in the family of Cleve Waterhouse.

Florence Marston who is working in the village is at home for a weeks vacation.

Mrs. Daniel Dullea spent several days last week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Caswell in Auburn.

Nettie Richardson was a week end guest at Ralph Flood's.

Horace Brown spent the week end with his mother, Mrs. Gertrude Brown at the village.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Smith were dinner guests Christmas day of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Healy.

The New Hampshire farmers are opposed to the 48 hour law that is to come before their next legislature. At a recent meeting of the State Grange at Portsmouth, an almost unanimous resolution was passed. They favor enforcement of the prohibition laws, are opposed to the soldiers' bonus, and the daylight saving.

The most worthless man lives in town; he has been carrying two pill boxes around in his pocket for three months, since his last illness, and is too lazy to throw them away.

Occasionally you meet a person as mean as the boy who cannot enjoy the apple, or candy he is eating unless there are a number of other boys without any, standing around envying him.

South Paris

Santa Claus Visited Sheriff Cole.
Deputy Harry O. Stinson landed in the sheriff's office the day before Christmas and gave Sheriff Harry D. Cole the surprise of his life. A small package which might conceal a bomb or an infernal machine, was laid gingerly on his desk with a request to examine carefully.

Every precaution was taken against a premature explosion when the sheriff and deputy adjourned to the parlor. All fears were shown to be groundless when the investigator discovered a valuable gold watch suitably inscribed and a gold chain. This was a Christmas gift from the deputies in Oxford County and carried with it a message of appreciation and good will as he retires the first of the year. The watch has a P. S. Bartlett seventeen jeweled movement in a 25 year case and is a dandy.

Mr. Cole has been an efficient officer the past six years and endeavored to fulfill the important duties in accordance with the oath of that high office. No murders have been committed in the county during his terms. Eighteen prisoners under his jurisdiction have been sentenced to Thomaston and 635 committed to jail. Five have been sent to the Men's Reformatory and two women given terms in other institutions. Everything considered, the way of the transgressor has been hard in Oxford County. The sheriff and his deputies, although unable to clean up every nook and corner, have done commendable work and placed the county among the leaders in the state for enforcement and order. The sheriff retires with a host of friends wishing him success in his new business at South Paris as garage proprietor and sales agent.

The department responded to an alarm about 7:20 Thursday evening for a blaze in the Clark tenement on Pleasant street, in the middle rent occupied by George Morgan. Fire was in the partition in a chamber on the second floor and worked through the roof. Holes were smashed through the walls with axes and the flames subdued after an hour's fight. Loss is covered by a small insurance. An overheated stove is believed to be the cause of the trouble.

Price, superintendent of this division of the Central Maine Power Co. was presented a valuable ring as a Christmas present from the employees at the Norway office the power house and the crew at Mechanic Falls. ### NORWAY SCHOOLS

Holt School.
Term enrollment, 7; average attendance, 6.47. The only pupil not absent during the term was Gertrude Pushard. The other pupils were absent only when ill. Names of pupils not tardy: Theodore Howe, Louise Pushard, June Howe, Gerald Strout, Eva Howe, Elmo Fulkerson, Gertrude Pushard.

Christmas Festivities at Shoe Factory
John LaFort, foreman, of the stitching department at the Carroll, Jellerson Shoe Co. staged a Community Christmas celebration for the employees Saturday forenoon. Superintendents, foreman, office clerks and all shoe workers were invited into the stitching room for the exercises. About two hundred attended. Sociability and good cheer reigned with everybody happy in the appropriate setting that required many hours during the previous evening to arrange.

The room was decorated with streamers of red crepe paper and spruce branches tastefully arranged about the windows and posts. Two large trees laden with small presents were located in the center of the room with a natural snow effect at their bases.

Some jolly party was the stitching room women while the party waited the Santa Claus twins. A victrola in charge of Gertrude Higgins and Ella Dectea rendered music for entertainment and for dancing if any so desired. Mrs. Susie Goodspeed ably managed the confetti package and few escaped generous showers. Annie Bagley had a candy table where sweets were dispensed.

Lawrence M. Carroll, president of the company and Stephen O. Jellerson, another member of the firm appeared as Santa Claus. They unloaded the trees and with witty remarks handed the gifts to Abe Klein and Henry Bidard for distribution. Santa Claus "Larry" announced all packages must be opened when received and the surprises were complete.

Jumping jacks, nursing bottles, toy musical instruments and other "jokers" were among the fun producers handed across.

After the hilarious period the big gifts were introduced. L. M. Carroll received a fine leather travelling bag fitted with a Gillet shaving set, brushes and a "pocket companion." Steve Jellerson was presented a leather gun case, both gifts were from the factory foremen. Percy H. Nevers was made happy with a gold pen and pencil given by the factory; M. C. Lysoth was the recipient of a pipe from his help in the finishing room. John LaFort received a leather travelling bag, a gift from the stitchers. Merton Libby, the machinist was surprised with an electric table lamp from the same source. Edward Carroll received a shaving kit and other presents from his help.

Mr. Carroll and Mr. Jellerson thanked the promoter for the pleasant gathering and wished all a Merry Christmas and New Year "We will all keep on making shoes next year and hope to meet here around the Christmas trees one year hence," were Mr. Carroll's closing words.

Mr. LaFort's happy thought may be enlarged upon next Christmas when a more extended observance may be arranged. All declared it one of the best times of the year.

Pigs Killed Without a Squeal
That it is possible to kill pigs and eliminate the squeal was demonstrated at James Pledge Shop, Norway when the writer made a tour of inspection Friday afternoon.

A pig driven into the room from a pen under the stable, Alton Luck with a small rifle humanely performs an operation on the brain. The usual method of butchering continues without a sound; even the report of the rifle is scarcely audible beyond the walls of the room.

This was the situation at the Pledge Sanitary Abattoir and no deviation from custom because of inauspicious visitors searching after facts. One noticeable feature was the large quantity of water used to flush the cement floor and to keep everything clean during the process. This drained into the sewer and nothing remained to prove the fact but the thoroughly cleaned carcass hanging on hooks. All waste was carried to a side room and is sent away at night as stated by Walter Luck the veteran butcher in charge. The writer was also informed several beef creatures were killed with a rifle there during the day but only their carcasses were visible.

Mr. Luck stated the room is thoroughly cleaned after every animal is butchered and cleaned many times during the entire process. Hot water for scalding was the only odor noticeable about the place.

This abattoir is connected with the shop building on Winter street and built and conducted in accordance with the health laws of the state, as Mr. Pledge explained. He also impressed on the visitor the fact that the entire place had been officially inspected and found to be clean and pronounced all right. Mr. Pledge and Mr. Luck learned the trade in England where abattoirs and meat shops connected are considered entirely proper in the community.

In keeping with the law, the floor is covered with four foot reinforced cement wainscoting on the walls. The room has several windows and lighted by electricity. Ventilation is excellent. Animals are brought in on the side next Mr. Pledge's house and their carcasses delivered to the customers through the shop. The room is at present unfinished.

Mr. Pledge will complete the carpenter work later. Window screens, a large refrigerator and more equipment are among the improvements contemplated as warm weather approaches. Mr. Pledge and his assistants declare the place will be fly and vermin proof and one of the most sanitary abattoirs in the state.

The glass in the winter porch at the Maine State entrance to the Beals Tavern is an appreciative necessity. Landlord Seavey is papering and painting about thirty rooms this winter. Billy Walker the artist, getting in line for the summer business.

Among the students home for the holidays are Doris Brooks from Boston University, Laurence Foster, Smith's College, Alice Bartlett, Leslie Kincher, Gilbert School, Cambridge; Elizabeth Bartlett, Mabel Perry, Elsie Smith, Nassau Institute.

Elbridge Gammon received a nice supply of groceries Christmas. He said they came about 8 o'clock and he don't know where from but is very grateful for them and assumes they are from the Community Christmas tree.

(Communication)
TAXATION AND HIGH COST OF LIVING

The cost of living went up two per cent, in November. There is no adequate reason for this with the business of the world in a chaotic condition naturally the cost of living would be falling, but this is not the fact. Prices of commodities are boosted by those able to control the distribution of products and the consumer is still being skinned by the profiteer. In 1920 we were promised a return to normal conditions. Now, two years after, once in a while we hear on the outside of the crowd in control a weak, piping voice saying that it cannot be done. This is to prepare the consumers to bear as patiently as may be, a further skinning. The people do not know where the whole trouble is, but they do know that no efforts have been made to re-establish normal conditions. On the plea of relief, the framers' bloc in Congress caused a high tariff to be enacted into law, but the farmers of the country are deriving no benefit from it and are now asking for more legislation. The law simply allowed the controllers of production a firmer grip on prices. There can be no real hope of a change while small bore politicians are placed in control of affairs—national, state and municipal. By and by the men who can be relied upon to do the work the great mass of the people desire, will be sought out and elected to office. Let us hope that the time is near at hand—Comment.

The Boston Herald is deploring the tendency of the times toward socialism and government ownership of railroads and coal mines, says it favors letting supply and demand regulate production and prices. That would be most desirable, provided there was nothing to interfere with the operation of the rule. Before 1885 great combinations to control production and prices did not exist to any alarming extent. Conditions are different today. Great combinations are able to regulate both and must be curbed, checked, regulated and perhaps highly taxed, to put a stop to the control of production and prices. These combinations are chiefly responsible for the increase of socialism and government ownership of railroads, coal mines, etc., which the great mass of the people deplore—Comment.

The State Assessors say that new sources of revenue must be found for running the state's financial affairs and it is suggested that the new women voters be required to pay a poll tax and that an income tax law be passed. It has also been suggested that a tax on gasoline be imposed for the building of better roads and their upkeep—News Item.

Some of these propositions there may be reasons for, but it seems never to have occurred to these official gentlemen that it would be a good idea to cut off unnecessary appropriations, for things that the people might get along without for a time, and thus lighten the great burden of taxation. We have seen no indication whatever that any of the state officials except Governor are interested in the reduction of taxes. It might be advisable to shake up the state commissions and put in new men whom the people could trust to put out some effort to lighten instead of increasing the burden of taxation. One thing is pretty sure to take place. If a poll tax is imposed upon the women voters, there will be such a political overturn in Maine as has not been since the "old log cabin days."—Comment.

BLISTER RUST

The following letter has been received by Blister Rust Agent, D. S. Curtis of North Bridgton:

December 14, 1922

Mr. D. S. Curtis,
North Bridgton, Maine.
Dear Mr. Curtis: I was very much surprised to receive your letter of the 12th instant and to find that the white pine blister, the danger of which I have long foreseen, had got a foothold in the town of Lovell, particularly in pine trees on my land.

I did not know there were any wild current or wild gooseberry bushes near the pines.

I shall appreciate it if you will see that my premises are entirely cleaned of the infection at the earliest possible moment. If you will kindly inform me what my share of the expense is I shall be glad to send you a check for the same.

Awaiting your reply and with kind regards and appreciation, I remain,
Very sincerely yours,
Fred W. Dallinger.

EAST OXFORD

Sophia J. Babineau
This community was shocked, Friday morning, Dec. 15, when the news came that Sophia J., wife of Albert Babineau, had passed away during the night. Although not enjoying the best of health, she attended to her household duties, going to bed apparently as well as usual, and passed away in her sleep from heart trouble, from which she had suffered for several years.

Sophia J. Blanchard was born in Canada, July 10, 1855. She was united in marriage to Albert Babineau at Lawrence, Mass., about forty-six years ago. One son, George Babineau, was born of this union, who has always made his home with his parents.

They moved to South Paris from Lovell eighteen years ago. Besides her husband and son she leaves one grandson, Raymond F. Babineau, two sisters and one brother and several nieces and nephews, besides a wide circle of friends to mourn their loss.

The funeral was held from her late home Monday, Dec. 18, at 1 P. M. Rev. Chester G. Miller of South Paris officiating. Interment at Norway Pine Grove Cemetery. The floral tribute was beautiful, showing the esteem in which she was held.

Winship C. Callaghan of Brunswick has been the guest of his aunt, Mrs. A. Chester Witham, the past week.

Catarrhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. Catarrhal Deafness requires constitutional treatment. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE is a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed, you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced, your hearing may be destroyed forever. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE acts through the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system, thus reducing inflammation and restoring normal conditions.
